▣ KRUNGTHAP KRETA SPORTS CLUB

⊕ Description	One of the older courses near the city center features lots of water, attractive layout and big & mature trees. Completely rebuilt in 1994 by James R. Vaughn. This is actually a very demanding test of golf, especially if you're not hitting it straight. Most holes feature water and/or Out of Bounds on both sides of the fairway and the greens are deceiving and somewhat difficult to read. The Par 4 1st can ruin any chances of a good score very quickly, and the Par 5 2nd is equally difficult with a narrow fairway and water hazards on both sides. There are significantly more mature trees than most other courses in Bangkok, and combined with several tight driving holes, Krungthep Kreetha can frustrate you as much as any course.

▣ ROYAL CHIANG MAI GOLF CLUB

⊕ Description	The 18 holes, par 72, Peter Thomson designed links style course opened in February 1996. The par 4, 4th (Hcp 1) is an absolute brute of a hole, playing at 440 yards from the back tees and uphill all the way. Not a hole for the faint hearted. This hole is an exception as the key to scoring well, points more towards accuracy than length. More so, considering there is 94 well-placed bunkers to catch any stray shots. You will find many streams and lakes throughout the 18 holes but not all are in play. The course offers all levels of golfers an enjoyable round with a chance to score well. Many of the holes are set with beautiful mountain backdrops, so if your game goes to the pack at least the course and its backdrops will be pleasing to the eye.

▣ KHAO KHEOW COUNTRY CLUB

⊕ Description	This 27-hole golf course is situated along route 36 heading towards Pattaya and takes about 80 minutes to reach from central Bangkok. Like so many of the Eastern Seaboard's courses the Khao Kheow Country Club catches a strong sea breeze thus players have to plan their shots carefully on account of the numerous large ponds, bunkers and hills that surround the greens and fairways. The course really has something for everyone. In particular, watch out for the par-three seventeen, it's a killer for both amateurs and professionals and relies on the golfer having a certain amount of luck on his/her side. The first 18 have been designed with a stadium championship course, while the back 18 are definitely more geared towards a resort course. Those daring enough to do the whole lot in one day can look forward to relaxing at the lush clubhouse afterwards, which incorporates a sports club, swimming pools, hotel accommodation and tennis courts in its design.

▣ RED MOUNTAIN COURSE (by LOCH PALM)

⊕ Description	This brand new 18-hole course is Loch Palm's sister course. Winding its way through a truly dramatic 1400 rai former tin mine site in the heart of Phuket, Red Mountain is surely one of Asia's most exciting new courses. The course has been cleverly routed to take advantage of a huge variety of landforms and dizzying elevation changes. Scars left from the tin mine era have been imaginatively incorporated into the overall scheme, creating a unique character at the same time as establishing an indelible link with an important era in the Island's past. Designer Jon Morrow, has created a highly strategic and challenging 6,900 yard lay out to complement the shorter and gentler old Loch Palm Course. While the course is undoubtedly challenging, numerous risk and reward options create a fun playing environment, an exhilarating test of golf and a breathtaking scenic tour around a course destined to become a golfing landmark in the region. The course will complement rather than compete with her older sister. Few sites have presented the Design Team with such a dramatic raw canvas on which to sculpt a memorable Golf Course. The routing explores the four corners of the former tin mine property with dizzying elevation changes representing a memorable tour of Phuket's historical landscapes. Holes have been sculpted into and through rugged 'rock' cliffs and canyons, perched on precipitous ledges climbing to a high plateau cut away from the mountain by decades of mining. This is undoubtedly the highest Golf on Phuket Island! Views are as dramatic as one would expect; sounds of Tropical Rainforest forest a reminder of forgotten times.

▣ SOUTHERN HILLS GOLF & COUNTRY CLUB

⊕ Description	Southern Hills, in the far south of Thailand near the border with Malaysia, enjoys an excellent reputation. Although isolated from the country's more popular golfing destinations, any intrepid golf travelers to Songkhla Province and the city of Hat Yai, will be rewarded with a very natural and challenging course. The two nine-hole loops follow an undulating route along a narrow river valley, flanked on both sides by dense jungle. Water is a constant factor on the front-nine, where many of the holes are laid out alongside small lakes. Water is less in evidence on the middle section of the back-nine, although the signature, island-green par-3 17th and memorable, water-flanked, long par-4 18th ensure there is a watery sting-in-the-tail at the end of this challenging and always absorbing layout.
